Kristine Grudis Joins Randall Manufacturing as a Territory Manager of Warehouse & Commercial Building Products

ELMHURST, Illinois - March 21, 2012 - Randall Manufacturing, a leader in temperature zoning products for the transportation and warehouse industries, announced today the appointment of Kristine Grudis as a Territory Manager for its warehouse and commercial building product lines. Ms. Grudis will report directly to Randall Manufacturing's Vice-President of Sales, Chuck Carey.

After nine years, Ms. Grudis returns to Randall Manufacturing with a wealth of experience in temperature zoning solutions for warehouses, commercial buildings, and workplaces. Most recently, she served as the Strategic Accounts Sales Manager with HCR/Jamison Door where she was responsible for business development with strategic accounts in the Horizontal Re-circulatory Air Door market. Prior to that, she held the Vice President of Business Development position at The Facility Group where she was responsible for business development in architecture/engineering services for food processing and distribution clients across the United States and Canada. Ms. Grudis will work closely with building managers, architects, 3PLs, and material handling partners to bring innovative temperature zoning solutions including InsulWall[®], a flexible, thermal curtain wall and InsulAir[™], a highly efficient recirculatory air door.

"We are very pleased to welcome Kristine back to our team," said Fred Jevaney, Randall Manufacturing president. "She further strengthens Randall's sales team with her experience and understanding of the market and will help lead us into the next phase of growth."
